Explanations

English Language (Basic Knowledge)

Q.1 · Answer (C) Complacent

'Complacent' means so pleased with oneself or one's situation that one sees no need to change or improve. 'Beneficent' means doing good, and an 'adolescent' is a teenager.

Q.2 · Answer (D) To wait before making a decision

To 'sleep on it' is to put off a decision until the next day, so as to think it over.

Q.3 · Answer (C) Deceitful

'Fraudulent' means dishonest, meant to cheat: 'deceitful'. 'Genuine' is its opposite, and 'repellent' means causing disgust.

Q.4 · Answer (C) pull away

To 'pull away' is to withdraw or keep one's distance: work pressures sometimes took the speaker away from the family. 'Look into' and 'put off' need an object, and 'sit in' means attend as an observer.

Q.5 · Answer (A) local

The adjective 'local' describes the bookshop: 'a local bookshop', one in the neighbourhood. 'Location' is a noun and 'localize' a verb.

Q.6 · Answer (B) picked up

To 'pick up' a book is to take it casually, here because its cover caught his eye. To 'pick on' someone is to bully them, and to 'pick at' food is to eat it without interest.

Q.7 · Answer (C) attractive

After the linking verb 'looked' an adjective is needed: the title 'looked attractive'.

Q.8 · Answer (A) to read

'Able' is followed by the to-infinitive: 'able to read it'.

Q.9 · Answer (D) dialogues

'Conversational language' points to 'dialogues', the characters' conversations, which made the novel easy to follow. A monologue is a speech by one person, and a prologue and an epilogue open and close a work.

Q.10 · Answer (D) a bit longer

'Than' needs a comparative, and 'a bit' (not 'the bit') means slightly: 'but a bit longer than I had expected'.

The reporting verb 'said' stays in the past, but a fact or general truth keeps its present tense in indirect speech: 'that it is a fact that kids model parental behaviour'.

The relative clause needs a finite verb after 'who': 'who commute long distances'.

Q.18 · Answer (B) To remain cool

To 'sustain' an injury is to suffer one. 'Ordain' means order or appoint as a priest, 'maintain' keep up and 'pertain' relate to.
