Explanations

English Language

Q.1 · Answer (A) When it was time to choose between staying or leaving the country, she chose to stay back.
After 'to' the verb takes its base form, 'to choose', and the main clause needs the past tense, 'she chose'.

Q.2 · Answer (D) accelerator
An 'accelerator' speeds things up, which fits a community meant to drive positive change; an 'impediment' would hold it back.

Q.3 · Answer (B) Avarise
The correct spelling is 'avarice'.

Q.4 · Answer (C) Abattoir
An abattoir is a slaughterhouse. An apiary is where bees are kept, an arsenal stores weapons and an archive keeps records.

Q.5 · Answer (C) extensive
Wide, 'extensive' reading develops constructive thinking, which 'narrow' or 'brief' reading would limit; 'avid' (eager) says how keen the reader is, not how widely they read.

Q.6 · Answer (A) In rebellion
To be 'up in arms' is to protest angrily, in revolt: 'in rebellion'.

Q.7 · Answer (C) “Let’s go to the market in my car,” Gogol told me.
In direct speech the offer becomes Gogol's own suggestion, with 'his car' turned into 'my car': 'Let's go to the market in my car.' The other options drop the car or turn the offer into a question.
