Explanations

Part-C-Elementary Mathematics

Q.13 · Answer (B) 14 cm

Recasting keeps the volume: the hemisphere's $(2/3)\pi \times 7^3$ equals the cone's $(1/3)\pi \times 7^2 \times h$, as the base radius is $14 \div 2 = 7$ cm. So $49h = 2 \times 343 = 686$ and $h = 14$ cm.

Part-D-English

Q.1 · Answer (C) Feeling extremely nervous

To 'have your heart in your mouth' is to feel extremely nervous or frightened, as if the heart had jumped up into the throat.

Q.2 · Answer (D) Hop

To 'leap' is to jump, and to 'hop' is to make a small jump. To 'peek' is to glance quickly, and 'run' and 'pile' have nothing to do with jumping.

Q.3 · Answer (D) Lead

To 'follow' is to go after someone; its opposite is to 'lead', to go in front and guide. 'Heed' and 'trail' are close to 'follow'.

Q.4 · Answer (D) roses, rose

'Rose' is a homonym: the flower (here 'roses') and the past tense of 'rise', so the sales of roses 'rose', that is, went up, by 20%. No other pair gives a verb meaning increased.

Q.5 · Answer (B) of action during that

The set phrase is a 'plan of action', a plan for what to do: 'Their plan of action during that critical situation was well appreciated by all.' 'Plan in action' is not the set phrase, and 'off' and 'about' make no sense here.

Q.6 · Answer (B) made mandatory

The sentence argues that girls must be educated, so their education must be compulsory, not voluntary: it must be 'made mandatory', required by rule. 'Done compulsorily' keeps 'done', which does not go with 'education'.

Q.7 · Answer (C) I were

The singular subject 'I' takes 'was' in the past continuous: 'I was writing this poem last evening.'

Q.8 · Answer (A) Vivid

Detail that is 'graphic' is clear and 'vivid', often unpleasantly so. 'Startling' means surprising, and 'mirthful' and 'comic' mean funny.

Q.9 · Answer (A) have tried to address

The plural subject 'designers' takes the plural verb: 'The syllabus designers have tried to address the problem.'

Q.10 · Answer (C) Urbane

'Rustic' means simple and unrefined, typical of the countryside; its opposite is 'urbane', polished and sophisticated, as town manners are thought to be. 'Natural' is close to 'rustic'.

Q.11 · Answer (B) stepping

'Steping' is misspelt: 'step' doubles its final 'p' before '-ing', giving 'stepping'. The other words in the sentence are spelt correctly, and the other options are misspellings.

Q.13 · Answer (D) architecture

The correct spelling is 'architecture', the design and style of a building.

Q.14 · Answer (C) To be madly in love

To be 'head over heels' in love is to be completely, madly in love.

Q.15 · Answer (D) brayed
To 'bray' is to make the harsh cry of a donkey, and a person who 'brays with laughter' laughs loudly and harshly. 'Bread', 'blade' and 'braid' sound alike but make no sense here.

Q.16 · Answer (A) have been
The present perfect passive 'have been brought up' describes an upbringing whose effect lasts into the present, as the rest of the passage, in the present tense, shows. 'Are been' is ungrammatical, and 'will be being' and 'were being' do not fit the time.

Q.17 · Answer (A) wages
To 'wage war' on something is to fight a long campaign against it; the singular 'Man' takes 'wages'.

Q.18 · Answer (B) harmless
The sentence sets 'unpleasant insects like spiders or wasps' against 'quite harmless ones like moths', which do no harm. 'Benignant' means kindly, 'nonfatal' not causing death and 'wholesome' good for health.

Q.19 · Answer (A) Most
SSC's key gives 'Most', the word of the passage's original text: the writer's point is that our dread of insects, even of harmless ones like moths, is largely unreasonable yet hard to shake. 'Some' and 'Several' are also grammatical but weaker than that point, and 'Few' contradicts it.

Q.20 · Answer (C) about
To 'go about' one's business is to carry on with one's usual activities: the insects go about their business unaware of us.
